Abstract: The new crown epidemic that continues to this day is fierce, lasting and lethal, which has brought about an unneglectable impact on all aspects of our country and the world, especially on the economic development of our country and the world, and the economic situation of the whole world has been seriously tested since history, but also exposed, in the face of such disasters, a country's institutional problems. China is a socialist country, developing and growing up under the leadership of the Party, the Party's purpose is people-oriented, so people's livelihood has always been the key issue in our country. Under the reflection of this new crown epidemic, the research on the construction of people's livelihood system is more important. In this case, it is obvious to the public finance system that the quality of the new crown epidemic and the policy of free and full reimbursement are adopted by the state. Therefore, when the new crown epidemic occurs, the public finance system of the state is particularly important, and the system problem of individual income distribution is also an important system to solve the people's livelihood. These two systems are in a very important position in the people's livelihood system of our country.

1. Introduction

As we all know, for our country, the most important issue is people's livelihood, because people's livelihood is a matter of concern to all people, it covers all people's life, food, clothing, housing and transportation related issues, for a person's birth, old age, illness and death is also a great relationship, our country is a socialist country, the party has always insisted on the purpose of governing the country is people-oriented, the construction of people's livelihood system is to adhere to the human-based one of the important requirements, the political and economic development of a country can not be separated from the participation of the people, so improving people's livelihood is undoubtedly the basic foothold of national development, but also one of the fundamental requirements of our national conditions. And the most important thing to solve people's livelihood problems is the economic development of a country, and our country is a socialist market economy system. On the basis of this system, we should develop the country's economy and build and improve the people's livelihood system. Only by solving the problems of people's livelihood can we better develop the country's economy. In fact, the two are mutually reinforcing and snuggling each other at some level. In order to ensure the quality of people's livelihood, we must make great efforts in the system, actively improve the people's livelihood system, all from the people, adhere to the people-oriented, but if the level of economic development of the country to a slightly backward period, people's livelihood is a serious problem, even more detrimental to the development of the country, so whether it is to develop the economy or improve the people's livelihood are closely related to the system. From this we can know that to improve our people's livelihood, we must start with the system, attach importance to the advantages brought by the system, and actively build and improve the system. This new crown epidemic is a good confirmation of the importance of a country's system building.

2. The Significance of Our People's Livelihood System

There are two kinds of systems: basic political system and basic political system. Our country is a socialist country, adhere to the road of Marxism and strive to build socialism with Chinese characteristics, so our party has always carried out the fundamental political system of people-oriented, always put the interests of the people in the first place, and solving people's livelihood problems is one of the important tasks of our party. Our country's development can not be separated from the people's hard struggle, our progress can not be separated from the people's contribution, from which we can see that the people are very important to the country. Development depends on the people at the same time development is also for the people's life can be better, all achievements are the achievements of each people. With the development of the economy, the people's pursuit of quality of life has become better and better, and many of the people's livelihood problems have gradually become prominent. The problems that have occurred in people's lives are very unfavorable to the long-term stability of a country.

3. The Importance of Building and Improving the People's Livelihood System

For a country, the interests of the people are very important, so the problem of people's livelihood is very important. The construction of the system is to limit and regulate the behavior of the bad people. If the construction of the system is missing or imperfect, it may lead people to do things without proper balance or even go to extremes. The birth of a system is necessary, and its characteristics are even more distinct, and it must be sustainable, stable and comprehensive. Therefore, the construction of people's livelihood system and the improvement of people's livelihood problems play a sustainable and comprehensive characteristics, which can fundamentally solve the people's livelihood problems [1]. In this world, no country has no system, as the saying goes : " no rules out of place ", if a country without the relevant rules system, then the country will be very chaotic, so we can see the importance of the system for a country. At the same time, the system is also a strong basis and premise for leaders to do all their work well.

3.1. Building and Improving the System is Conducive to Regulating Various Livelihood Issues

Under the influence of the new crown epidemic, it can be seen that people's livelihood problems are very important, and the scope involved is also very wide. We can not rely on temporary policies in a short period of time to solve all the problems well. We should solve all the problems comprehensively, as a whole, and for a long time to prevent many livelihood problems. People's livelihood is a long-standing problem, which is also very complex to solve, to build and improve the people's livelihood system, fundamentally to solve and prevent all kinds of people's livelihood problems that may occur, at the same time to coordinate the relevant relations in this, to solve people's livelihood problems should be appropriate, standard to regulate, can not be arbitrary, think of where to do the way to face people's livelihood problems. Using the system to regulate people's livelihood can effectively solve people's livelihood problems.

3.2. Construction and Improvement of the System is Conducive to Compulsory Resolution of Livelihood Issues

The system has certain mandatory characteristics, it does not belong to the general rules, belong to the moral norms to regulate people's behavior, the necessity of the system is also reflected in its mandatory characteristics, is legal effect, if our country wants to fundamentally solve the problem of people's livelihood, we must work out the relevant system of people's livelihood, in order to enforce measures against the relevant departments in order to improve the people's livelihood in our country [2]. Our country is a socialist country, is very important to the people, the fundamental purpose is people-oriented, so our country is always pursuing people's happiness, improve people's happiness, sense of belonging, and strive to solve all kinds of people's livelihood problems. In some ways, the degree of solution of people's livelihood problems is not affected by the ideology of the executors, it is a national level, which needs to be enforced, so that the construction and improvement of the people's livelihood system can effectively promote the solution of people's livelihood problems [3].

3.3. Building and Improving the System Can Solve People's Livelihood Problems for a Long Time

As always, history is mobile, in history there are many policies and systems are also involved in people's livelihood issues, from ancient to present, the attention to the people is recognized in the hearts of every generation of leaders. Therefore, people's livelihood problem is actually a dynamic form of existence, in the historical changes in continuous development and improvement. China's economy in recent years in rapid improvement, people's livelihood issues are increasingly prominent, its coverage is also becoming widespread. Therefore, if we want to solve the problem of people's livelihood well, we must understand that it must be a long struggle process, to continue to progress, to develop, to improve. The construction of the system can make the people's livelihood problem be solved, so it should be sustainable to the construction of the people's livelihood system.

4. Summary

To sum up, for a country, the strength of the people is very important, especially for our country, because our country is a socialist country, the fundamental purpose that the Party has always adhered to is to put people first, and at all major conferences, people's livelihood issues are brought to the meeting and discussed emphatically. Every leader puts the interests of the people first. Therefore, to build a good country, the most important thing is to solve the people's livelihood problems, people's livelihood problems all the time related to the most fundamental interests of every people, and to solve the people's livelihood problems most important in addition to building a good people's livelihood system, but also pay special attention to the public finance system and income distribution system, under the impact of this new crown epidemic, the state quickly decided to free treatment, which is a very large expenditure on the state's financial expenditure, from which we can see the importance of the public finance system. At the same time, the personal income of every people is also very important, without infection of the virus at the same time for the epidemic prevention of all necessary supplies and consumption are not small, only balanced development of income distribution system, so that each people's income can be guaranteed, facing some livelihood problems, can have the ability to cope. Therefore, if a country wants to develop and become strong, it has to attach importance to people's livelihood issues and build and improve the people's livelihood system.
